

Welcome to Oslo & the Norwegian School of Veterinary Science

The Norwegian School of Veterinary Science (NVH) welcomes exchange students from partner universities in Africa, Australia, Europe and North America. Apply now to take up to three months of your clinical rotations at our animal hospital in Oslo next spring. All student exchange is, of course, free of charge. Your might also be eligible for an exchange scholarship from your home university.

During January, February, March and April, NVH offers the following clinics in English:

Small Animal Internal Medicine
Small Animal Surgery
Small Animal Out-patients Clinic
Equine Clinic
Production Animal Clinic
Reproduction Clinic
Ambulatory Clinic (Farm Visits)
Clinical Pathology Clinic

Places on field courses in Small Ruminants and Aquatic Medicine (Fish Farms) in late April – early May, are sometimes available.

In addition to the academic aspects, an exchange visit to NVH gives you the opportunity to experience Scandinavian culture, make new international contacts and friends, live in a lively capital city, surrounded by forest and fjord, and take part in skiing, snowboarding and skating all within the city limits.

For more information please see:

<http://www.studyinnorway.no/>

or

<http://www.nvh.no/>

To apply please contact your local international coordinator, or Melanie.Etchell@veths.no